WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.) For two and a quarter hours this morning, the Committee on Banking and Currency discussed Representative Johnson's bill providing for the exchange of treasury notes for government bonds. The committee then adjourned until next Tuesday, when the author of the bill hopes decisive action may be taken on it.

The bill encountered the opposition of Messrs. Sperry of Connecticut and Warner of New York, who argued that the scheme opened a new channel for the depletion of the gold holdings of the treasury. It is said that if the bill became a law, the holders of bonds would exchange them for treasury notes and then demand gold for the notes.

To this, Representative Johnson responded that the only occasion that would induce the holders of bonds, themselves redeemable in gold and commanding a premium, to change them for currency of any kind, would be just such an urgency as that now upon the nation. It was a far-fetched objection that gold would be demanded for them.

Representative Brosius of Pennsylvania had a substitute for Mr. Johnson's bill. It proposes to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to issue notes in exchange for gold coin. To this Representative Johnson said he had no objection as an independent measure, but it did not, in his opinion, meet the case. The people who have gold do not have to send to Washington for notes in order to pay their debts. Gold itself will do that, but the people who hold bonds, especially if they are of large denominations, cannot with them discharge their obligations.

The Johnson bill was advocated by Messrs. Walker, Hall of Missouri and Springer, who recognized the bill as favoring it with the substitution of some other form of note than treasury notes.

Messrs. Sperry and Warner supported the substitute proposed by Mr. Brosius.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

EXTRA SESSION.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.) The Vice-President announced in the Senate today the appointment of a committee, on the commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the capitol. Senator Harris of Tennessee came to the rescue of the Vice-President's ruling, and declared that no previous notice of intention to address the Senate gave the Senator any sort of right to the floor.

The Vice-President finally said that, as he had recognized the Senator from Monday, but it was resisted, however, by Senator Vance of North Carolina, who gave notice that he would call up the question at 1 o'clock tomorrow. Senator Peffer then resumed the floor and continued his speech.

He declared himself in favor of free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1—that or nothing. He went on to argue that it was the government mintage that gave a legal tender quality to gold and silver, and the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law would mean a gold standard, and, as far as he was concerned, the Sherman law would never be repealed, unless the law of our fathers was restored to the statute books. He criticized Senator Voorhees for what he called "his political apostasy," and, drifting into a discussion of his own resolution as to the national banks violating the law in refusing to pay depositors' checks in currency, Senator Peffer said he did not intend to have done.

Senator Aldrich addressed the Senate in support of his amendment to add to the Voorhees bill a provision for free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, and for the coinage, without unnecessary delay, of the silver bullion now owned by the government. He went on to argue against the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, which, he said, was the last barrier between the patriotic and industrious classes of people and the gamblers of Lombard street and Wall street, who would, for private gain, turn the world back into the gloom of the dark ages, with all the attendant evils and misery. The People's party was not clamoring for silver because it preferred it to gold, but because it was not a sound basis for the world to do the world's work. The high-sounding, useless declaration about the intended return to bimetallism attached to the Finance Committee bill could not mislead the people into such support. They have it in their power to make better terms.

HOUSE.—The five-minute debate on the Wilson bill began this morning with the day's contest between the eastward and the westward, who accidentally upset a lamp while heating a hair-curling iron. From there it grew rapidly in volume, fanned by a gale from the west, and the flames ate their way over block after block of small frame residences, until the fire reached the lake.

Within two hours after the fire started it had consumed at least five blocks of the great industrial section of the city. The residents of that portion of the city were in a panic, second

STANLEY AND EMIN PASHA.
The Latest from Emin—Why He Does Not Die Wined.
The London Times once said, "A man will forgive you everything but success." Stanley, notwithstanding all that has been said against him, was successful in his African expeditions, but not successful in getting into the English Parliament, and that defeat his political opponents never say anything against him. But African travelers cannot forget him or forgive him his success in the dark country.
So here comes Carl Peters, African explorer, inspiring the Associated Press which telegraphed clearly across the continent to tell us what Stanley ate and drank in Africa, and what Emin Pasha did not eat and drink.
What a terrific charge, but Stanley lived on good food himself, and Emin is a more terrific charge, viz: the French missionaries (also African explorers) allege that he fed his men on "negro diet." Carl Peters, who told Carl Peters that at Camp Usumbar they saw "Stanley sitting at the head of a table eating European foods and drinking wine, but that Emin Pasha ate negro diet and drank water." The thing is easily explained.
As to the "negro diet." Emin lived on the same food, but he referred "negro diet" to any other. As to the wine, no doubt the "French missionaries" were envious that they did not and that Stanley and German friends, and Emin must have fore-sworn Mohammedanism temporarily, for we know that he fell from a second-story window in the city of Khartoum, and he barely escaped with his life, and with a year on the invalid list.
Go to, envious Carl Peters, with your accusations against Stanley!

Seriously, there was one thing in the telegram across the continent which has more than a grain of truth in it. It is that Stanley is according to the belief that Emin Pasha is still living." On the same day "Emin Pasha" appeared in the Los Angeles Times a second time. On Europe the following, which I send The Times, translated from the German: "According to a letter recently received from Frauelein Elise Eberle (the traveling companion of Emin Pasha's young daughter), dated from Brickburg, in the province of Silesia, to her friends in Loebau, Silesia, the great explorer (Emin) is still alive, and cared for by friendly Arabs, but he is totally blind." J. C. F.

WITH THE JURY.

The Young Case Almost Concluded.

A Verdict Expected in the Cause Today.

Convincing Argument by Deputy District Attorney Ryan.

Judge McKinley Refuses to Grant Either Party a Divorce in the Lamb vs. Lamb Case—A Story of Domestic Infelicity.

This morning argument in the Young murder trial will be concluded and the cause submitted to the jury.

The opening session of court yesterday was devoted to the closing up of the work of taking testimony, and shortly before noon Dist. Atty. Ryan arose to make the opening address in behalf of the prosecution. The courtroom, which had been slowly filling up in the meantime, became unpleasantly crowded as the attorney began, and remained so throughout the remainder of the day.

Mr. Ryan's argument lasted about two hours, and was listened to with much interest by all, the logical sequences and convincing conclusions carrying with them a sense of sincerity and earnestness which was by no means without effect upon the jury and lobby.

The speaker began at the beginning and thoroughly reviewed the history of the crime with which the "mac" was charged, leaving out none of the details of incidents tending to throw the weight of the presumption of guilt on the balance against the defendant. The woman was burned on that night of April in a singular manner. Her entire back from the neck down was scorched to a crisp, and the burn, according to the testimony of Dr. McCarthy, penetrated to an unusual depth. When she was found injured in that manner and afterward asked how it had happened, she said in an evasive way that she was attempting to light a cigarette, had dropped it, and in stooping to pick it up overturned the little table on which the lamp was and set fire to her clothing.

When asked again by Detective Bosqui for the true version of the affair, she made no reply. The officer then had said: "Irene, it will be a great deal better for you, and 'Billy,' too, if you will tell the truth about this matter."

The suffering woman replied to this, "Oh, no."

In the opinion of the attorney the last remark made was equivalent to an admission of the falsity of the woman's first statement. Then, too, on the one hand, Jean Leinert had testified for the people that he was the first man in the O'Brien woman's "crib" after the burning, and that the table was not overturned, but stood in its usual position by the window.

It was true that Joe Dockweiler said that when he got into the place that the table had been overturned. The preponderance of testimony was strongly in support of the theory of the guilt of the defendant. The table and chair taken from the woman's room were brought forward, and in view of the jury Mr. Ryan proceeded to illustrate the extreme improbability of the theory of the defense. If the lamp had simply fallen to the floor, he argued, the carpet would have been saturated with oil and very likely burned, but there had been found an indentation on the wall; the paper had been cut and particles of glass had been found about in the vicinity of the window frame. Some one had deliberately seized that lamp and thrown it with much force, otherwise the paper on the wall below the indentation would also have been burned. It was ridiculous to pretend to believe that the fire on the floor would make a jump up the wall, leave a space of several feet of paper untouched and then burn upward.

The statement of the woman that she had not been burned through Young's viciousness was either made in a spirit of morbid sentimentality or from fear that, should she recover, Young would wreak worse vengeance upon her. It was more likely that the last was true, for Irene frequently had expressed the belief that she would not die.

At 3 o'clock, closing his address with an appeal to the jury to weigh the evidence carefully and render a just verdict, the prosecuting attorney gave way to Zue G. Peck, Esq., who took up the argument for the defense. In his plea to the jury Mr. Peck attacked the character of the witness, Lulu Dorman, endeavoring to show that a person addicted to morphine was wholly unreliable when it came to a matter of testimony. He argued on the general line of the alibi proof, which the defense had set up as their strong point, and occupied the attention of the court until late in the afternoon.

R. A. Ling, Esq., Assistant District Attorney Dupuy will close this morning for their respective sides. The fact that the defense has been wholly unable to shake, in the slightest degree, the testimony of Donald Grant, is considered by many one of the strongest points in the case of the people, and on that ground the opinion is based that Young will run a closer chance this time for his life than he ever has done in the previous trials.

REFUSED THE DIVORCE. Judge McKinley decided yesterday that no divorce should be granted in the case of Lennie V. Lamb vs. Glen H. Lamb. The matter has been heard behind closed doors for several days past, and the details of the cause have been kept as secret as possible.

It appears, however, that the wife began the suit on the grounds of cruelty, and that the husband interposed a cross-complaint charging his better half with adultery.

The couple were married some years ago at Azusa. Mrs. Lamb's maiden name was Pollard, her parents being highly respected members of the Azusa society. The marriage was regarded at the time as being a particularly happy one. The father of the bride presented the couple with a neat cottage, deeding it to them as joint property. Then, so the report has it, the husband sold or exchanged the cottage for other property, and retained possession to this in his own name. About this time the Lambs moved to Orange county, and from there came rumors of domestic infelicity and family trouble. The wife's name was associated with that of a man named Robinson in a no very complimentary manner. There was some little talk about the story at the time, but the scandal finally died out.

In the hearing of the divorce case it seems that all of these old rumors have been once more revived and reviewed on the witness stand, and, as the court refused to allow the divorce, the natural conclusion is that both parties must have established their charges to a greater or less extent.

INTERESTING SUIT BEFORE JUDGE ROSS. A suit was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court by W. B. Wall, M. S. Jones and A. D. Bishop for $7000 damages. The defendant is W. L. Adams, a well-known resident of Tustin, Orange county, who fomented the trees of his own orchard according to the hydrocyanic gas process claimed by the plaintiffs as their exclusive property. The suit is for infringement of patent, and the amount claimed is based on the alleged benefits illegally derived by defendant by the use of such patented process.

COMPLAINTS HAVE BEEN FILED IN SUITS FOR DIVORCE BY S. S. Turner against Lizzie P. Turner and Flora M. Wallace against Edward J. Wallace.

In the matter of the insolvency of E. W. Thomas Judge McKinley yesterday ordered that the examination of debtors and creditors be continued to September 4. Hugh Crawford, Esq., presented a petition in Department Six, yesterday, asking for the release of Samuel Tuitweller on a writ of habeas corpus. Tuitweller was committed in default of $200 bond to keep the peace last week by Justice McLain, on a charge of threats, preferred by his former wife. The court yesterday refused to grant the petition and remanded the defendant to jail.

J. D. Grabam, a native of Canada, was yesterday admitted to citizenship by Judge McKinley.

In Department Six, yesterday, Mrs. S. E. Smith was granted a divorce from W. C. Smith, on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Judge Smith heard the application of G. M. Worden for release on habeas corpus yesterday and ordered that the defendant be discharged from custody. Worden had been committed to await trial for obtaining money under false pretenses.

NEW SUITS. Preliminary papers in the following new suits were filed with the County Clerk yesterday:

R. S. Dering et al. vs. S. W. Strong, suit for injunction in conveyance of water rights.

Martin Forrest vs. A. P. Spencer, suit for judgment of $2569.55 on partnership account.

Estate of Joseph Gregory, deceased, petition of Mary Gregory for letters of administration.

Estate of Wallace Woodworth, deceased, petition of C. E. de Camp for letters of administration.

PETTY OFFENDERS.

Business Before the Police Justices Yesterday.

Peter Garcia and the other five men arrested Wednesday afternoon by Officer Arguello, were before Justice Seaman yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. It appeared that F. Tolasio, one of the gang, did not make any resistance, and, in fact, rendered some assistance to the officer. He was accordingly dismissed. The others each entered a plea of guilty, and were ordered to appear for sentence today. It was brought out in the officer's testimony that when Garcia attempted to get away he (Arguello) caught the man by a tussle of the rials so as to tumble him over.

The cases of John Ramey and others, charged with disturbing the peace, had been set for yesterday afternoon, but, owing to the fact that another case had precedence, they were continued till tomorrow afternoon. The defendants were the ones who were arrested for parading in front of Meiste's restaurant on Second street.

Justice Seaman yesterday fined Ah Jim and Ah Sam $5 each for violating the laundry ordinance.

Ah Bow, who stole a pair of trousers from a First-street store a few days ago and was caught by Officer Major while running away with them, was given $60 or sixty days for petty larceny.

A large portion of the afternoon session of Justice Seaman's court was taken up with the trial of F. A. Louprier on a charge of battery. Mrs. Kratzer, the complaining witness, testified that she and another lady went to call on a woman living in a house owned by the defendant. He happened to be on the premises at the time, and said that the other lady could come in, but denied an entrance to Mrs. Kratzer. Immediately afterward, he clutched her by the throat, and then both of them fell down, she falling on top of him. The court was unable to make statements agreeable, and ordered that the defendant be discharged. The defendant, in giving his side of the story, caused much merriment in the courtroom. He endeavored, by a series of gesticulations, to show how the fracas occurred, and this made the spectators laugh so that Ballif Appel had to hit the table hard in order to restore quiet.

Albert Scott was brought to the County Jail yesterday by Deputy Freeman of Inglewood and lodged on a charge of assault. Scott had been employed on the outfit sewer not far from Inglewood, and had had a fight with some of the other men working there. The other men employed at the place drove him away, and he came to the outfit sheriff and gave himself up. Scott is said to be the same man who figured in the Benny Myers case in connection with a game of "craps" in the Police Court a few days ago.

DUN'S REVIEW.

The Commercial Situation is Brightening Up.

A Rift in the Clouds—The Wonderful Recuperative Power of the United States is Now Definitely Asserting Itself.

Dun's Review, a commercial authority, for the week ending August 19, is at hand. In the customary resume of the situation the editor begins with the following encouraging paragraph:

"There is a rift in the clouds. Faint, and yet definite, signs of improvement are all the better because they come, not from possibly delusive hopes or from monetary foreign aid, but from the good sense and the wonderful recuperative power of the people themselves. Business is trying to go ahead without waiting for Washington, imported good, $9,000,000 or more during the week, does not go the right spot, but the people are creating a home-made currency for themselves by using certified checks in paying hands, settling local accounts and purchasing grain and cotton. The bank circulation has increased $2,000,000, but the decrease on deposits of national banks alone, May 4 to July 12, was $193,169,588, and during the past month withdrawals have also been heavy. Little money comes back as yet from timid hoards, and the paralysis of exchange is nearly as complete as ever, but that very fact pushes each section and city into relying more on itself and less on government and Wall street. Many concerns are failing or closing, but resumption are now becoming somewhat frequent, and in the very shrinkage of production men see evidence that demand must soon overtake supply."

After mentioning the great shrinkage in such industries as coal mining and iron making, and the manufacture of textile fabrics, and the general depreciation in the price of raw materials, the Review calls attention to the fact that the decline of railroad earnings thus far for August is only 18 per cent. It prices for railroad securities have also yielded comparatively little, the average for the week in question being $43.62 against $45.94 for the former week. Speculative markets have generally declined a fraction, in spite of crop reports, which are not solid enough to outweigh the great stocks in sight. Cotton fell a quarter of a cent, with somewhat better reports of probable yield. Wheat drags near the lowest figures ever known, in spite of decrease in visible supply, for though Western receipts are not large, stocks are far beyond the necessary disbursements. The New York Clearing-house has now issued $37,880,000 certificates, and the Boston Clearing-house $11,200,000, but more important relief comes from the abatement of the drain upon savings banks, and of the demand upon other banks for currency to be used in paying the wages of factory operatives in the Eastern manufacturing States.

But this decrease in demand is of itself evidence that industries and trade are greatly embarrassed, many works having stopped and many hands receiving no wages. The more hopeful signs which appear should be interpreted with full understanding that a genuine revival in business cannot begin until a larger demand for goods and better conditions otherwise enable a greater proportion of the shops and mills to employ and remunerate labor as usual. As yet the works closing exceed in number those resuming, and the failures of firms able to share in the employment of hands and the transaction of business.

Although the treasury at Washington has lost money steadily, it is coining small gold as rapidly as possible, and issued $5,500,000 additional bank notes during the first half of August. This, however, is insufficient to meet the drain, as rapidly diminishing receipts are no longer enough to cover the necessary disbursements.

SAVED IN TIME.

A Narrow Escape a Riverside Man Had from Losing Money.

James Douglass of Riverside arrived in this city yesterday morning. In the afternoon he decided to take a stroll on Main street to see his tailor. Going by Spring street, he passed Gordon Bros. windows, and noticed suits to order marked down very low. He walked into the store and found a piece of goods like he had a sample of from his tailor. He placed the order in Gordon Bros. and saved, in time, his money, as he escaped paying $12.50 more for the same goods, and can not get better work, as all garments are made right on the premises at Gordon Bros.
